What are we celebrating this week?

The Handelsbanken Review

We're half way through our first service delivery with Handelsbanken. Already they're saying that if we continue as we have done, they'd be happy to recommend us and to use our services again.

Let's keep up the great work!

Shoutout for Debbie!

Debbie Watson was recently asked by Tesco to do a little bit of additional work, that involved reviewing current documentation, creating a number of tickets, and walking the team through the documentation over two sessions. And we're thrilled to say she did a fantastic job.

The client said:

"I'm really impressed how well Debbie was able to break them down into the different user stories, while adding really clear acceptance criteria. Overall I think Debbie has done a fantastic job."

Thank you Debbie for your hard work! We really appreciate it.
